Through all their adventures, the bond of the Sisterhood has remained steadfast and unshakeable. But for the first time, the Sisterhood verges on falling apart when the ladies have to choose between two difficult assignments. The first job guarantees a huge paycheck; the second offers a presidential pardon—and a chance to finally emerge from hiding.

For the sake of their union, the gals put aside their differences and focus on a new mission. A mysterious Washington, D.C. political operative needs them to track down a computer hacker who has stolen a highly classified list of fundraisers' names. With a presidential election looming, the girls soon realize the job is a lot more dangerous than they had anticipated. Will their client come through with his promise? And can the ladies stop fighting—and stay alive—long enough to see it happen?

PRAISE FOR FERN MICHAELS AND HER SISTERHOOD NOVELS

Frank Quinn is sure he is hunting for a madman: someone who is shooting young women in the heart, defiling their bodies, leaving only torsos to be found. Quinn, a former NYPD detective, is called into the case by an ambitious chief of police and mobilizes his team of brilliant law-enforcement misfits. But in the concrete canyons of New York, this shocking serial murder case is turning into something very different.

Jill Clark came to the city with too many hopes and too little cash. Now a seemingly deranged woman is telling her an extraordinary story. New to an exclusive dating service, Jill is warned that other women have died on their dates—and that she could be next. Struggling against a death trap closing in around her, Jill has a powerful ally in Frank Quinn. But no one knows the true motives behind a rampage of cold-blooded murder—or how much more terrifying this is going to get.

WHAT WE REMEMBER

Michael Thomas Ford

Award winning author Michael Thomas Ford returns with his most ambitious novel to date—a compelling drama in which a father’s disappearance has a profound effect on his three children and causes secrets and lies to be exposed...

KEY SELLING POINTS

- Michael Thomas Ford’s newest novel will appeal to his core readership, but with his more mainstream plot, he takes a step forward in establishing an audience with readers who enjoy such authors as Julia Glass, Chris Bohjalian, and Jodi Picoult.

MARKETING PLANS

- National print media campaign
- Advance Reading Copies
- Internet marketing on kensingtonbooks.com, michaelthomasford.com and gayandlesbianbooks.com

James McCloud, a Seattle district attorney, gets an early-morning phone call from his sister, Celeste, announcing that their father’s body has been found. Police officer Daniel McCloud disappeared years ago. But a bigger bombshell is in store—evidence proves that Daniel was murdered.

When James returns home to Cold Falls, New York, he’s reunited with his mother, Ada, and his younger brother, Billy, who’s twenty-one, gay, and troubled. His brother-in-law, Nate, is the town sheriff, and the mistrust that has hovered between them since high school still simmers. And as the truth emerges, so do secrets powerful enough to threaten another life and destroy the bonds that will remain...

PRAISE FOR THE MICHAEL THOMAS FORD

Changing Tides

“Ford bridges the gap between gay romance and mainstream fiction in his latest. A deft sense of place and a handle on romance...that’s neither sappy nor shallow will help set this one apart.”—Publishers Weekly

Full Circle

“Summer isn’t the same without hitting the beach, getting a sunburn and devouring a deliciously soapy novel. Ford knows how to draw in a reader with sex and sin.”

—Entertainment Weekly

Michael Thomas Ford is the author of Last Summer, Looking For It, Full Circle, and Changing Tides, and is best known for his essay collections Alec Baldwin Doesn’t Love Me, That’s Mr. Faggot to You, It’s Not Mean If It’s True, and The Little Book of Neuroses. All four of his essay collections have topped bestseller lists across the country. He currently lives in San Francisco, California. Ella Dubose is a Southern lady of a certain age. By turns charming and ornery with deep wells of sadness and regret, she is a delicate force of nature. And while her two younger children are thinking about limiting her freedom and mobility, she's determined to continue to run her own life as long as she is able.

So Ella sets out on a road trip with her longtime companion, Goldie, to a beloved seaside resort where she will meet up with her oldest son Tyler—and with the ghosts of her past. There, Ella will also encounter a gentleman who will renew her faith in romance. And with willfulness and southern grit intact, Ella may just try for a last stab at happiness.

James Villas was the food and wine editor of Town & Country magazine for twenty-seven years. His work has also appeared in Esquire, Food & Wine, Gourmet, Bon Appetit, Saveur, The New York Times, and The Atlantic Monthly, among other publications. Two of his cookbooks have been nominated for a James Beard Award. He's also won a James Beard Award for journalism and received Bon Appetit's Food Writer of the Year Award in 2003. James Villas is the author of more than a dozen cookbooks and books on food, including My Mother's Southern Kitchen and The Glory of Southern Cooking.

Casey Gilmore is determined to make this particular Christmas merry and bright... somehow. First things first. Her dad has to come home—and Flint McAllister has to leave. Having him take over the Anchor Bar was never her idea. Thrown by a horse, on the injured list for months, her dad insisted that Flint manage the family ranch and Casey had to give in. But from the very first day, she let Flint know that anything he could do, she could do better. Then he decided to charm her right out of her cowboy boots and love her up and—wow, he was good at it. But Casey can't give in and let him win just because she's feeling sentimental about the holidays.

EVERYBODY IN THE CHURCH AIN'T SAVED

Patti Trafton

Patti Trafton's engaging debut introduces the members of the Love, Joy, Peace and Deliverance Community Choir, a group of young adults joined together through their passion for singing the Lord's praises...though their hearts are far from the things of God.

Patrice was raised in church, but she seems hell-bent on living like the devil. Lorene has been Patrice's best friend since childhood, and while her singing voice is heavenly, she spends her time outside the sanctuary cussing like a sailor. Glen has no respect for women and is only after a one-night-stand when he approaches Patrice for a dance. Dwayne is battling with his sexual identity, and can't forget his father's mistreatment during his youth.

Now each of the four churchgoers will have to face some hard truths before they can find real happiness...

MARKETING PLANS

- National print media campaign

Fresh from a stint in the Navy, twenty-one-year-old Jimmy Dale Taylor was overdue for some much needed R&R. Luck seemed to be on his side when Glenn True Clark stepped into his life. Older and more experienced, it didn't take much for Clark to entice Taylor up to Seattle for a promised good time. On the way, they picked up a pretty, eighteen-year-old hitchhiker.

At a rest stop on secluded Dead Indian Mountain, the trip took a violent, unexpected detour. On the frigid, desolate peak, the girl's frantic screams for help suddenly tore through the cold air as she was attacked and viciously raped. Gunfire erupted and the girl broke free, escaping into the night.

Twenty-one years later, the household of Jimmy Dale Taylor woke to a cold nightmare. While Taylor's wife and family watched in stunned disbelief, their husband and father was arrested for murder. The chief witness against him—the girl he swore he saved. But truth takes strange turns over two decades, and not even those who were there know what to believe, let alone a jury.

"This story builds suspense and sympathy enough to grip readers."—Sunday Oklahoman

"(A) skillfully woven tale... Could definitely picture this one as a 'Movie of the Week.'"

—The Pilot

Jimmy Dale Taylor was born in Tennessee and raised in Arizona. He currently resides in Guthrie, Oklahoma.
