HOLLYWOOD HILLS

Joseph Wambaugh

"Joseph Wambaugh's best book yet."—
Stephen King on Hollywood Moon

Joseph Wambaugh, "master of the modern police novel" (Michael Connelly) and author of the bestsellers Hollywood Station and Hollywood Moon, is back with another gripping novel about the LAPD in International C-Format.

Leona Brueger is the still-foxy widow of Sammy Brueger, who left her his fortune and mansion in the Hollywood Hills. Bored, she is dating a B-list movie director and looking to get a little excitement in her newfound freedom.

When an esteemed (but broke) art dealer named Nigel Wickland sees the valuable paintings hung on Leona's mansion's walls, he hatches a plan to create replicas and resell the originals at a killing profit. The only problem is, this is Hollywood. A circle of young pill-heads dubbed "The Bling Ring" has taken to thieving from rich people's houses, and a pair of tweakers stumbles upon Nigel's heist—and that's just the beginning of the trouble. Soon "Hollywood" Nate Weiss, surfer cops Flotsam and Jetsam, and the rest of the team at Hollywood Station have a fullblown mess on their hands.

HOLLYWOOD HILLS is a raucous tale that showcases Wambaugh in vintage form.

Final cover to come.
