THE 100

Michael H. Hart

A list of the one hundred most influential people in history features descriptions of the careers, contributions, and accomplishments of the political and religious leaders, inventors, writers, artists, and others who changed the course of history.

In 1978 when Michael Hart's controversial book THE 100 was first published, critics objected that Hart had the nerve not only to select who he thought were the most influential people in history, but also to rank them according to their importance. Needless to say, the critics were wrong, and to date over 60,000 copies of the book have been sold. Hart believed that in the intervening years the influence of his original selections have changed; thus, here is the revised and updated edition of THE 100.

Assessing historical figures by their influence and describing them with incisive biographies, Hart presented a new perspective on history, gathering together the vital facts about the world's greatest political leaders, inventors, writers, philosophers, explorers, artists, and innovators.

Many famous figures are prominent on the list, with Muhammad selected as #1. THE 100 is a truly monumental piece of thought-provoking study.
