UNDRESSING THE MOON

T. Greenwood

Praise for T. Greenwood and Two Rivers:

"A lyrical, delicately affecting tale."—Publishers Weekly

"Two Rivers is a dark and lovely elegy, filled with heartbreak that turns itself into hope and forgiveness. I felt so moved by this luminous novel."—Luanne Rice, New York Times bestselling author

UNDRESSING THE MOON seamlessly weaves the past and the present when Piper, dying of breast cancer at 30, reflects on her life and is drawn back to her 14th summer when her mother left, and reassembles the fragments of her history. UNDRESSING THE MOON is an evocative, richly-told novel of coming-of-age and coming-to-terms, finding grace in wreckage and hope in a broken life.

Piper Kincaid has never been able to forget the summer she turned fourteen—or understand its consequences. At thirty and diagnosed with breast cancer, Piper is drawn back to that time and filled with regret. As she attempts to reassemble the fragments of her history, what emerges is the kaleidoscopic portrait of a young woman whose indefatigable spirit prevails, despite shattered dreams.
