DEAD BY MORNING

BEVERLY BARTON

Why has someone targeted the Powell Private Security and Investigation Agency? Two employees and the brother of an agent have been brutally murdered, their throats slit and triangular pieces of flesh removed from their arms and legs.

When Griffin Powell, the agency's CEO, learns that there is a connection between one of his top agents, Maleah Perdue, and an imprisoned serial killer known as The Carver, he assigns her to head up the investigative team. Paired with former FBI profiler, Derek Lawrence, a Powell agency consultant, Maleah is soon drawn into a frightening cat-and-mouse game with The Carver when she visits him at a maximum security prison where he is incarcerated. In the hopes of unearthing information that will lead her to the copycat killer, she endures the tormenting game The Carver so obviously enjoys.

Maleah and Derek put their lives on the line to protect each other, unearth the startling truth behind the plot against the Powell Agency, and stop a ruthless, cold blooded killer.
