THIS GLITTERING WORLD

T. Greenwood

Praise for T. GREENWOOD:

"T. Greenwood portrays a world of beauty and peace that, once disturbed, reverberates with searing pain and inescapable consequences.... But also—maybe more so—it is the story of a man who learns the true meaning of family: When I am with you, I am home. A memorable, powerful work."—Garth Stein, New York Times bestselling author of The Art of Racing in the Rain

"Greenwood is a writer of subtle strength, evoking small-town life beautifully while spreading out the map of Harper's life, finding light in the darkest of stories."—Publishers Weekly

For readers who loved Revolutionary Road, T. Greenwood delivers her most emotionally nuanced novel yet with THIS GLITTERING WORLD, a dramatic story about a man torn between the pursuit of his own happiness and a crushing sense of responsibility.

One November morning, Ben Bailey, part-time history professor and part-time bartender, walks out the front door of his Flagstaff, Arizona home into a blizzard where he finds a young Navajo man beaten and dying in the newly fallen snow. When he meets the young man's older sister, Shadi, he begins to question the decisions he has made and the future he once thought was certain, particularly with respect to his fiancée Sara. What happens as a result of this serendipitous meeting sends Ben, who is struggling both in his professional life and in his personal life, into a tailspin, unraveling the carefully woven threads of the life, and the delicate web of lies, he has spun.
